COURSE SYLLABUS

Please read the following course syllabus carefully, especially the course dates, times and location. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to communicate with the IDEAL Program office, your academic advisor, or the instructor.

The IDEAL degree-completion program is designed with the adult learner in mind. Adult learners approach learning with specific goals, want to be able to directly apply new learning to their work and personal lives, and tend to learn best when the coursework is problem-centered so that they are actively engaged in the learning process. In addition, adults bring rich and varied experience to the classroom, which becomes a valuable learning resource for other students.

The IDEAL Program assumes joint responsibility in the learning process. The activities and assignments in the courses build on the shared experience of all learners in each class. This is why each student’s preparation, participation and interaction in class activities and discussions are critical to the success of each course. The accelerated format of each course requires a significant amount your time outside the classroom to prepare for and complete the course assignments. This varies between students and courses; however, students typically spend nine-twelve hours per week on course material.

To participate in the IDEAL Program, it is expected that you will do the following:

1. Attend every class session. Be on time.
2. Obtain the required course materials prior to the first class session.
3. Complete the first assignment prior to the first class session and all subsequent assignments to the best of your ability.
4. Participate in the class discussions and demonstrate respect and consideration to the instructor and other students when they express themselves in discussion.

If you cannot perform these four expectations, it is recommended that you drop the course. We look forward to your academic success in each course and the ultimate completion of your degree.

Learning Outcomes:  Upon completion of this course, the student should be able to:
Efficiently and perhaps profitably conduct any business enterprise within the United States requires a fundamental knowledge of a number of legal concepts, relationships, rules and regulations, as well as an awareness of the risks and range of consequences connected with failing to recognize or comply with them. It is at best risky, and at worst perilous, for those who choose to be engaged in business in the United States, at any level, from start-up entrepreneur to Fortune 500 board chair, to dismiss certain legal issues as “things we’ll let the lawyers will worry about later,” because often, by the time the lawyers have become involved, irreversible and damaging business consequences may well have already occurred because of the speed at which present-day business is conducted. The course will provide the student with an awareness of the laws that control, regulate, shape and determine the form, method and means by which business is conducted. Specifically, the student will gain an understanding of: (i) the various sources of U.S. law; (ii) the structure of the two U.S. court systems; (iii) the several categories and types of law which impact upon business operations; (iv) the process of U.S. litigation; (v) the fundamental legal instrument which is the basis for conducting business, the Contract; (vi) the various structural forms business organizations may take; and (vii) the ethical standards and expectations of business conduct.

The instructor reserves the right to adjust dates/chapters to compensate for any unforeseen changes.

Description of Weekly Sessions: Class sessions will be devoted to reviewing assigned reading materials, examining key concepts and involving constructive participation for the in class discussions. Important material, not always presented in the textbook, will be incorporated into class lectures. Electronic devices such as cell phones must be turned off before entering the classroom.

Grading Criteria: Your final grade will be comprised of several quizzes worth 30 points, class participation worth 10 points, discussion board utilizing Canvas 10 points, in-class presentation worth 20 points and a writing assignment worth 30 points (see below).

Quiz Format: The quizzes may be “closed book” or “open book” which will require you to incorporate the material discussed in class. The quiz format may consist of essay, multiple choice, true/false or any combination. Generally, at the start of each class session, you will be given a quiz covering the subject matter for the prior session. The final quiz of the term will be more in depth covering all the material from the term.

Class Participation: Class participation is 10 points of the overall grade. Class participation will be derived from an assessment as to involvement in the course material. It is not solely based on speaking in class. Hopefully students will feel comfortable to speak, since the class will only benefit from various perspectives. However, students will have other means of demonstrating involvement in the course objective, including:

- Regular Class Attendance;
- Involvement in Group Discussions;
- Satisfactory completion of in-class exercises; and
- Completion of Homework Assignments

Discussion Board: This class will utilize Canvas on a regular basis. During the weeks indicated I will post discussion question(s). You are required to log online and answer the question. You will then be required to respond to another student’s post of your choice. You will receive a Complete or Incomplete for this comprised of 10 points.

Presentation: Each student will be required as a group to present a topic to the class utilizing one visual aid. During the first day of class, groups will be formed and topics will be chosen. You will be required to present on a topic and engage in a question/answer session. Details to follow. This is worth 20 points of your final grade.

Writing Project: Each student will be given the opportunity to choose a topic and write a paper. This is NOT a research paper however you still must utilize 3 sources. The paper will be 30 points of your final grade. Details of the assignment will be provided during the first day of class. See attached assignment sheet for due dates. No LATE papers will be accepted – No Exceptions – even for good cause.

Late Work Policy: Certain works will not be accepted late regardless (listed on syllabus). Otherwise the policy is the following: One day late reduces grade by 10%, two days late by 20%, after two days late grade is zero. One day, two day does not refer to classes. I will calculate the days immediately following the due date. In today’s day and age of technology there is no excuse for late work!

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Attendance Policy
Classroom attendance is an integral part of the academic experience; therefore, students are expected to attend all class sessions. If an absence is unavoidable, the student, prior to class, should communicate with the instructor. Arrangements should be made at that time for submission of any missed assignments. It is also expected that students arrive on time and not leave until the class is dismissed. Tardiness will result in a reduced grade for the course. If you cannot attend every class session you should consider dropping the course.

IMPORTANT:
• Missing one class session will drop the final grade by one letter grade (for example if a student earns a grade of “B” in the course, the final grade would be a “C”).
• Missing two or more class sessions will be cause for a failing grade.
• Note: For 15-week courses; missing two class sessions will result in a letter grade drop and three or more will cause a failing grade.

Drop Procedures
To drop a course, you must complete and submit a Schedule Change Request Form. The form can be accessed at the IDEAL Course Schedule webpage:

Please print and complete the form and fax the form to the IDEAL Office: 203-576-4537. Prior to dropping a course, the student should contact their IDEAL Academic Advisor to understand the implications to financial aid and/or degree plan progress.

Please review the drop fees and tuition refunds at the Academic Calendar; accessed at the IDEAL Course Schedule webpage (same link above).

Cell Phones
Cell phones must be turned off (or placed on “vibrate”) while in the classroom. A cell phone call is disruptive and disrespectful to the other students in the class.

Academic Dishonesty
The IDEAL program prohibits all forms of academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty is normally defined as, but not limited to, the following two categories:

Cheating – Using inappropriate sources of information in an assignment or on a test. The following are examples of cheating taken from real student experiences:

Case #1: A student is enrolled in an introductory psychology course. He has co-workers who have taken the same course. As the end of the course approaches, he wonders how he will find the time to get the research paper finished, and asks one of his co-workers for help. His co-worker hands him a research paper that he submitted in a similar course. The student makes minor modifications to the paper, and submits it under his own name.

Case #2: A student enrolled in a humanities course is unsure about how to structure an essay. She is doing research on the World Wide Web, and comes across an essay written by a student from another university. Using her computer mouse, she copies and pastes the essay into her word processor. She goes to great lengths to re-word the paper in her own style, but essentially leaves the content and organization the same.

Plagiarism – Intentional as well as unintentional failure to acknowledge sources as well as the use of commercially available so-called “research papers” without full recognition of the source. Presenting as one’s own, the ideas, words, or products of another. The following are examples of plagiarism taken from real student experiences:

Case #3: A student is conducting research for a Civil War research paper. He has reviewed work on the Internet. Finding helpful information, he has summarized his findings without citing his sources. He believes that minor paraphrasing is all that is necessary.

Case #4: A student is writing a paper that requires her to address specific topics and problems in the assigned course textbook. She takes the information directly from the textbook with slight modification, without giving any citation. She thinks that since it is the course textbook, she doesn’t have to use quotations or citations.

Academic dishonesty applies to all courses, assignments or exams completed by students and submitted as their own original work, whether in person or by electronic means. The University does not tolerate cheating in any form. It is a serious breach of conduct with serious consequences. Instructors have the right to determine the appropriate penalty for academic dishonesty in their own courses; generally, however, such acts will result in a failing grade for the assignment and/or the course. The penalty for subsequent acts of academic dishonesty may include expulsion.

More information on how to recognize plagiarism can be found at this site: http://www.indiana.edu/~istd/plagiarism_test.html

Ethics Statement of Confidentiality
An integral component of an IDEAL course is student and faculty expression of personal experiences for the purpose of facilitating coursework. Students enrolled in the program are expected to honor confidentiality as it pertains to student disclosure. Shared information, comments, or opinions expressed by another student or the faculty member during the course of classroom discussion should never be used in a manner which is intended to humiliate, embarrass, harass, damage, or otherwise injure other students in their personal, public, or business lives. In addition, confidentiality must be upheld by not disclosing any information that would identify any particular individual.
